

CITY COURT CASES

William Webster, 39 Courtland street, was haled into the city court this morning charged with having failed to support his three minor children placed in the care of Mrs. Anna Levy, 1506 Avenue A after his wife and wife had separated. The action which was instigated by Supt. Fred Johnson when he learned that commitment papers were about to be asked by Mrs. Levy for the children resulted in Webster being found guilty and ordered to pay $5 per week towards the children's support or serve six months in jail. Evidence submitted showed that the prisoner failed to pay the children's board for over a week and that he had refused to clothe them though he makes $12 per week.

Frank Angert, 16 years old, 128 Spruce street, who caused a disturbance at the West End Play Grounds, was fined $10 and costs.

John Sutkusky, 58 Rully street, charged with intent to kill Stanislaus Bedelo, 672 Pembroke street, was remanded to await trial on August 12, under bonds of $1,000.

Philip Petrucciello, 245 Lexington avenue and John Nagole, 1645 Main street, were charged with assault. Their cases were continued until August 12.

Gophia Smith, 65 Fulton street, charged with assaulting Pearl Levy of the same address, was let go. It is alleged that goaded to desperation by the taunts of youngsters in the neighborhood, the Smith woman has on several occasions resorted to summary justice by spanking and otherwise beating the children, among which was Pearl Levy who made the complaint.

YELLOW FEVER SPREAD FROM PANAMA CANAL

Doctor Tells Medical Congress Mosquitoes Will Carry Disease on Board Ship to Asia.

London, Aug. 9.—Major Sir Ronald Ross, winner of the Nobel Prize for Medicine in 1902 and now professor of tropical medicine at the University of Liverpool, in discussing tropical sanitation at one of the sectional meetings of the International Medical Congress today, advocated the formation of a separate department of state to deal with the health of the community. He denounced the British system of subordinating the sanitary work. Sir Ronald, who has made a special study of malaria, was in the Indian medical service for many years.

Dr. Von Logham, of Amsterdam, foretold the spread of yellow fever to Asia and Australasia through the opening of the Panama Canal. Mosquitoes, he declared, remained infectious for a long time after biting a yellow fever patient and if the mosquito was able to keep alive on board ship that disease could be carried by it to long distances. He advocated the calling of an international conference in view of the inauguration of a strenuous campaign against the mosquito not only in Panama but in all Asian and Australasian ports.

TOM DUNIGAN'S DEATH DUE TO HEART WEAKNESS

Popular Young Newsdealer Died While Bathing at Milford Shore

Exemplary Young Man, With Legion of Friends, His Demise Is Universally Mourned.

The death of Thomas A. Dunigan, the well known East Bridgeport newsdealer, of Myrtle beach, yesterday, was due, according to the belief of physicians familiar with his constitution, to shock, and not, as was at first believed, to drowning. Grief reigned in many homes in East Bridgeport today when news of the tragedy was received, for there were few more generally esteemed than he.

Mr. Dunigan was 35 years of age. Of late he had not enjoyed the best of health and following the advice of his physician, Dr. W. J. A. O'Hara, and his inclination he spent much time with his mother, Margaret, the widow of Robert Dunigan, at her cottage in Myrtle beach. Pond of salt water bathing, just after 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon, he entered the water. In about three minutes two boys at play on the shore saw him afloat, his head submerged, and they pulled the body ashore.

They instantly alarm and in a few seconds many of the cottagers were crowding about the body. Several physicians were quickly available, and the ambulance of the Rourke & Rourke, in this city, brought a pulmotor to the scene in record time, but all efforts were futile. The pulmotor brought but a trifling quantity of water from the lungs and the belief prevails that he suffered from an attack of rheumatism of the heart.

Tom Dunigan was a native of East Bridgeport. He attended the Barnum school, and as a small boy was an altar boy in St. Mary's church. When the St. Charles parish was formed, he became an altar boy there. He was a devout Catholic, and of excellent habits. Until recently he was keenly interested in athletics. He played football with the Thunderbolt Jms., and was manager of the Barnum football team for several years while they held state football championship.

He recently opened a newsroom and ice cream parlor at Barnum avenue and Essex main street, and was building up a highly successful business. His close attention to his enterprise is believed to have broken his health.

The deceased was a member of St. Joseph's T. L. & B. association. His intimate friend, John Toomey, another member of the association, was buried a week ago tomorrow. Young Dunigan's death in the town since Jan. 1, in the membership of the St. Joseph's. He was a member, also, of the John F. Rogers Council, K. of C., and of the East Bridgeport Newsdealer's association. He was a leading spirit among the newsdealers.

Delegations from three societies will attend the obsequies. A solemn high mass of requiem will be sung at St. Charles church at 9 o'clock Monday.

The deceased was a most exemplary young man and it is not too much to say that the only thing he was rich with promise for him. He was devoted to his widowed mother and this affection between mother and son was so noticeable that it won for him a sincere regard of a legion of friends. In those circles in the East Side where he was so intimately known he will be missed.

As a newsboy he won and retained many friends who were only too glad to encourage him when he commenced business for himself. He arrived at his 26th birthday on Aug. 1 and in honor of that event his mother arranged a surprise for him at her cottage at the beach Wednesday evening last.

His fellow newsdealers attended the affair and presented him with a handsome leather wallet filled with money. He was very proud of the gift and exhibited it with pardonable pride to friends afterwards. He was a devout Catholic and had much to do with all of the movements in St. Charles church.

His mother and brothers have the sympathy of their many acquaintances in their bereavement.

LAST CHANCE TO REGISTER FOR PRIMARY LISTS

Today is the last day in which voters may register to take part in the primaries this fall and in consequence the registration was unusually heavy. The registrars said they did not know and would not know for several days when they have sorted over all the application blanks, the exact number of new names to be added. It is thought, however, there will be more than 500 new names beside the transfers.

The Democratic registration this year has been unusually heavy. There are four primary lists to be prepared this year, Democratic, Republican, Socialist and Progressive. About 30 members of the latter party had registered at press hour today. The registration will close at 9 o'clock tonight.

$60,000 FOR REPAIRS ON STORM SWEPT BUILDINGS

Washington, Aug. 8.—An aftermath of the cyclonic storm which swept Washington last week is disclosed in a statement prepared for Congress, announcing that $60,000 will be necessary to repair the damage done the buildings occupied by the pension bureau and the office of public lands. This amount represents the damage due to the fury of the wind in stripping off roofs, smashing windows and otherwise wrecking the structures. It does not represent the loss of trees in the grounds surrounding the former structure, many of which were leveled.

Many other government buildings suffered severely in the storm and two at least were struck by lightning.

Many of the women campers in New Jersey are wearing trousers this summer. There are distinct advantages when it comes to lightning the dress.

PRETTY YOUNG NURSE FIGHTS FOR FREEDOM ON CHARGE OF FATAL POISONING DOCTOR SHE LOVED

Utica, N. Y., Aug. 9.—Miss Emma E. Krill, the pretty young nurse whose love for Dr. Stanley E. Tron led her to her present difficulty, denies emphatically that she poisoned him with morphia and will fight for her freedom. A New York lawyer has taken up the case, although Miss Krill is reported to be without money, and will attempt to gain her release. She and Dr. Tron lived together, and the nurse refuses to say whether they were married or not. The supposition of the police is that they were never wedded, but that the doctor had promised to marry the girl. His delay or refusal to do so coupled with the fact that he was planning to go to Europe alone is given as the motive for the murder. The police have revealed Miss Krill's love tragedy by confiscating her letters and effects. It is claimed that the evidence warrants the nurse being tried for murder.

DAZZLING ARRAY FOR KNIGHTS AT DENVER CONCLAVE

Denver, Aug. 9.—Plumed Knights marching to their headquarters, gaily uniformed bands and profuse decorations combined, today, to make the arrival of visiting commanderies for the 32nd convocation of the Knights Templar a spectacular event. The convocation will open officially next Tuesday.

The Knights will view the illumination tonight, which forms a part of the decorative scheme. The center of interest will be the court of honor four blocks in length, lined with glass pillars that will send forth steam to mingle with shafts of vari-colored light. At one end will be seen a colossal mounted Knight bedecked with thousands of blazing lights. At the other end will be a welcome arch with its background of mountains, from which will rise a great red sun to shed its lights along the court.

Hereafter it is intimated that where lighted cigars or cigarettes are found in the possession of passengers, conductors will first ask that they be thrown away, declining to do the passenger will be placed under arrest.

$3.50 is cut off price of these rugs.

This is an age of specialty, even in making of rugs. Here is a mill that is specializing down to the point of making but one sort of rugs in place of the two sorts with which it has been so successful.

Only reason for that change is big demand for the one sort; demand so great that it will need all the facilities of the mill to supply it.

This decision brings about the dropping of the one line; of the tapestry Brussels rugs that are here told of.

They are seamless for they are woven on special looms. They are firm of weave. They are in excellent floral and Oriental patterns. Their colors are harmonious and in good taste.

But, because they are to be no longer made, a special price was made to clear up stock on hand. The store took advantage of this opportunity—and now you may profit by that action.

8 1-4 by 10 1-2 feet, usually $17,— $13.50.

9 by 12 feet, usually $18.50,— $15.

They are spread out in Carpet Hall so you can see them in same position as they will occupy in the home. It will need but a glance to appreciate their goodness of both quality and pattern.

Perfect long corset that won't rip.

Briefly described, such is the new Double-Skirt Rust-Proof corset from the Warner factory; perfect shape, long model, non-ripping.

Latest thing to be thought out and perfected by the Warner designers, was this new corset. Then they made samples and tested out their ideas. And they found that the corset would do all that had been expected of it. So here it is; ready for wearing and backed by a guarantee that it will not rip or tear in actual service.

This new corset is made with a thin underlayer of stout light batiste from the waist down. It is double boned and double interlined. And so its skirt is wonderfully strong. At the same time that extra layer of batiste causes no discomfort; in fact is not noticeable either to the eye inspection or to the body during wearing. But it serves its purpose and insures extra wear.

The Double-Skirt corset is ready in new long models, with soft and pliant bust, in shapes that will allow one's gown to be fitted with comfort and worn with equal comfort in the new modes of Autumn and Winter.

'Tis worth every woman's while to inspect this latest Warner product. 'Twill be equally worth each woman's while to wear a pair.
